

April 10th Visit, 2019

I was resting up from the Accutuning certification class that I did in Colorado Springs. I left Sunday morning about 7:30am and drove straight through arriving home at 10pm. I was in bed by 10:30pm and slept until 9 o'clock the next morning. I also spent the day taking naps because that drive took a lot out of me. Today was pretty much getting caught up on all the things that needed to be done while I was away. Colorado was nice but for me it was too cold. God, I love the warmth of Texas. I spent the evening unpacking and getting ready for tomorrow. I watched a little news on TV and went to bed early.

I don't know how long I was sleeping when I heard my name being called. With my eyes still closed I said "WHAT?" I was not nice with my reply but I had just woken up.

Michael...Wake, for we need to speak. Come to the Gate of Grace. There are others waiting for us.

With that being said, Michael left the bedroom. I rolled out of bed, put my blue jeans on and walked out the bedroom door. As I rounded the corner, everything was very different this time. I saw something that never happened before. Halfway through the kitchen and leading to the office, I was surrounded in a white light that glowed off of the ceiling, walls and the floor. It was coming from the gate that hung from the ceiling in the office.

Each of the gate stones were glowing with the light that corresponded to the color of the stone. It was as though each of these lights were signifying something very sacred. Underneath each of the stones stood one of the seven angels associated with that stone in the gate. I just stopped in my tracks taking in the wonder of it all. Each of the angels that stood there was bathed in that light and each angel held a vessel in their hands. It was at this point that Michael did something strange. When Michael comes for a visit he's the one that usually stands in the center of the gate. However, this time he moved to the place of the servant. Once he reached the place of the servant he spoke to me.

Michael...Take your place in the center.

This seemed a little bit strange to me because I wasn't sure where he was going with this. I did as Michael told me to and walked to the center of the gate. Once there, I looked around at all of the angels that were standing underneath the glowing stones. As I stood in the center of the gate I could see Khamael start to move. She came towards me and put a drop of oil from the vessel and placed it on my head. As she placed the oil on my crown she said, "I anoint you with the oil of Smyrna to fill you with your giftedness."

Michael...As you have been anointed with the church oil of your gifts, so it will be with all that will stand with you in the Grand formation. You will choose seven Masters to anoint the other Masters according to the color of their church. When this is done, they will sing the seven names of God 9 times. This anointing will bring forth the gifts in each Master and their vibrations will rise.

I can see the wisdom in doing this. When each one is anointed and are one with their giftedness, the vibrations will be at their highest level. In return, it will produce a greater harmonic.

Michael... This year at the conference you will take the Masters into the Da'ath once more and they will need their giftedness to be high in vibrations. The anointing with the Da'ath sacred oil before entering will give them access to the creative energy that was not available before. You have not made the sacred oil as of yet. You must make the oil before the end of this month. The sacred oil will need time to rest and grow in the harmonic frequency that will be needed when you anoint the Masters.

I would have made it by now but I didn't know how much to make. I hate to say it, but I don't think we will have 222 Masters there this year. Registration has been slow although we are about a dozen more than we had last year at this time. I will talk to the registration person and figure something out.

Michael... I am not predicting the number you will have, yet I would say 200 will be more than enough. If you should not use of the oil at the conference, you will burn it as a gift to God when you return home. The other angels and I will come and assist you in the sacred way of returning it to God.

Well I guess that means when it is gone it is gone.

Michael... This is but one prize the Masters will receive when they gather with you. They will also be blessed with the 5 powers of a Master. It is time for the Masters to know they are Masters. Over the years, many thought being called a Master was nice title yet they gave it no real value. They held it as something they would strive for and maybe someday they would be a Master. It has been said, "Be still and know that I am God." I say unto you, be still and know you are a Master. The 5 powers will now help you to truly know you are a master.

I have been telling people for years they are Masters and they should act accordingly. I know when I say that many think, "Yeah I know that BUT, who am I to think I am a Master?" Others think it would be arrogant or egotistical of them to think of themselves as a Master. Others ask, "Who am I to say they are Masters?" You may not believe this, but there some people that don't care for me all that much. You see I am not much of a warm and fuzzy kind of guy. With others they find fault with the way I do things. You know, like Joe said this or Joe did that and I just rub them the wrong way.

Michael... You were not chosen because you were light-hearted and everyone would like you. You were chosen because you would do the work. It is as you said to a friend of yours a long time ago when you chose to do the work, "I know I am going to take a lot of hits over this." You were chosen because you would get as many Masters across the finish line as you could.

Well I hope the Masters won't stay away because of me.

Michael... The Masters won't. Let us speak of those that will speak this year.

Shawn and Laurell will be doing music again. Shawn has a new song called WE and will be doing a teaching about it. I have four others that will speak and I am waiting for their bio and photos before I announce who they are. You have given me so much to teach and processes to do for the Masters prizes, I hope there is enough time. One more thing I want to tell you, I went to see the room we will be using. Last year the room we had would hold 250 people theater style. The room they are giving us to use this year will hold 800 people. Wouldn't it be cool if we the Masters filled it. If we did, I think with that many Masters in the room we could change the world in 15 minutes.

Michael... There are more than enough Gathered Masters and Masters to be gathered to fill the room. You have created space for that to happen, yet it is up to the Masters.

You have much to do in making the way for the conference to happen. Do the things I have given you. We will talk again. Be at peace and teach only love.

I watched as the light of all the angels started to fade and just like Michael, they all folded back into the light and were gone. I stood alone in the center of the gate once more. Now it is time to get busy, cuz I've got a lot to do.

Teach only love,
Joe
